LEARN HOW TO USE THE ABC-CLIO DATABASE IN 10 MINUTES!

This is a self-teaching guide that will take about 10 minutes to complete. Finish this exercise and you’ll have mastered the basics of searching this database!

STEP ONE

Go to BHHSLIBRARY.COM (linked from the school home page under LIBRARY) Choose DATABASES from the dropdown menu under RESEARCH & TOOLS

STEP TWO

Sign into your Gmail account (and Google Classroom account if you’re using Google classroom) in a separate tab, THEN--

Click on the EBSCOHOST link. If you are at school, you do NOT need the username/password. Username/password is for logging onto the database AT HOME!

USERNAME = beverlyhillshs
PASSWORD = BHHS2!
STEP THREE

Click on “ABC-CLIO History Databases” link

You should see this welcome page!
Now you can begin searching! You can search all databases at the same time (RECOMMENDED) or just choose the ones you want.

Welcome, Beverly Hills High School

Go directly to one of your databases by clicking a link, below right.

Or, to search across all or any combination of your ABC-CLIO databases, enter a word or clicking the search button.

Search all Databases

- All Databases
- American Government

STEP FIVE

Search this term: COLONIALISM and then click SEARCH

STEP SIX

Your SEARCH RESULTS will show the articles/documents found in each database and also the TOPICS. We’ll look at topics later! Click on the database with the most results (World History: The Modern Era):
STEP SEVEN

FILTER your search results by choose REFERENCE ARTICLES. (NOTE: If you’re looking for PRIMARY SOURCE DOCUMENTS, you would choose one or more options under DOCUMENTS):

STEP EIGHT

Choose the article with this title--

British Colonialism in Egypt
Technically part of the Ottoman Empire, 19th-century Egypt enjoyed de facto independence since Muhammad Ali became its viceroy in 1805.

Category: Reference Articles
Time Period: Spheres of Influence, 1776-1914
STEP NINE

Remember when you signed into your Gmail account and/or Google Classroom account when we started?

NOW--

Look at the TOOLBAR on upper right-hand corner of the article. You can SAVE directly to your Google Drive/Google Classroom account, email the article to yourself or to someone, format it for printing, and CITE the article in MLA or APA format!

When you click on SAVE you will see this popup screen. If you do NOT see it, then enable popups in your browser!

STEP TEN

Return to SEARCH RESULTS and click on the TOPICS tab. TOPICS are discussion questions that are drawn directly from high school curriculum topics and will help you research these questions!

LEVEL ACHIEVED—YOU ARE NOW A MASTER OF THIS DATABASE!
